Mrs. W. W. Lynch leaves today on the 1:30 C. and O. train for Baltimore to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Janelle. She will attend the inauguration of President-elect McKinley at Washington before returning home.

IF you have an item of news, please call up THE LEDGER, Telephone 33, and send it in.

Dr. S. T. McCullough left yesterday morning at 10 o'clock to join his devoted wife at Portsmouth.

The many friends of M. R. Gilmore will be pleased to know that he is much improved this morning.

Special Officer Frank Furell will serve on the beat of Night Policemen Stewart, resigned, until the Board of Councilmen elects a successor.

Front street in the neighborhood of Subin presents a rather unpleasant appearance. It looks just as though a city ordinance required all ashes to be dumped into the street.

Virginia, infant daughter of Mrs. and Mr. John Duley, died at 1 o'clock this morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Davis, 404 West Second street.

Colonel M. C. Russell and Mrs. Mary T. Cox were yesterday exchanging rings—Mr. Russell moving into the handsome home recently bought from Mrs. Cox, and vice versa.

The Attorney General of the United States has decided that the use of the mails must be denied by Postmasters to advertisers who offer prizes to persons sending the largest number of coupons.

Constable W. B. Dawson reached here from Covington yesterday noon, having in charge Howard Blythe, the young man arrested there the day before, and who is wanted here to answer a charge of felony.

The bicycle riders of Maysville will be very much delighted to know that the Frank Owens Hardware Co. has at last succeeded in securing the agency of the Columbia. Their wheels will arrive in a few days.

The attraction to be given at the Opera-house February 24th has the same cast and scenic effect as produced in the larger cities. This the management of the Opera-house, as well as the owner of the play, guarantees.

Are you needing Table, Dessert or Tea Knives and Forks? If so, P. J. Murphy the jeweler, is showing an elegant line of "Pearl" handles, "Shining Silver" and "Royal D'Or" 24K goods. We have low prices if you need the goods.

The ferry-boat will leave the landing at 6:30 p. m. and return after the meeting at Aberdeen. Any one desiring to attend has at the Maysville wharf at that time, promptly. There were twenty-one additions to the Church Sunday night.

The Oddfellows Lodge at Millersburg, which has sixty-five members, is taking steps to secure control of the Kentucky Wesleyan College building at Millersburg, and will ask the Kentucky Grand Lodge to locate the proposed Orphan Home at that place.

Kavanaugh, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodwin, died yesterday at 5 p. m. at Rectortville, aged 3 years and 3 months. Interment at Mt. Olivet Cemetery at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

WHAT'S THAT?

The Danville Advocate Office Cat Throws a Big Brickbat This Way.

Speaking of the party who committed the recent forgery in this city THE Danville Advocate says:

"Maysville papers said he would probably waive an examination and throw himself on the ignorance of the Court."

Just what the man means by "ignorance" of the Court can only be surmised; but THE LEDGER likes to remark that Judge Harbison, who will have the disposition of the case, requires an extra sized hat to cover his brain tank.

MUST LEAVE THE TOWN.

A Colored Amazon Allowed to Light Out and Stay Away a Year.

Lida Bell, very much colored and very tough, and Annie Moore,

Not so much colored and not nearly so tough.

Were arraigned before Judge Wadsworth yesterday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The proof against Lida was of the clearest order, and she got a dose—$10 fine and $7.20 costs.

Rather than put the city to the expense of her hotel and laundry bill, and on her promise to leave the city p. d. q. and not return for twelve Great Suns, the Judge let her depart.

There was no evidence to convict Annie Moore, and the warrant against her was dismissed.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGAN!

NEWS NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The gauge at this point shows 29.9 and falling.

The Bonanza will pass up tonight for Pomeroy.

The Ohio river is falling from end to end, as are all its tributaries.

The Keystone State will be the Pittsburgh packet for Cincinnati tonight.

The Joe Williams left Pittsburgh yesterday with a big lot of coal for New Orleans.

The falling river is leaving its mark on the grade—about two inches of nice yellow slime.

The Virginia for Pittsburgh passed up last night. She got a big shipment of mill-feed at this point.

The freight rush is over. All the packets are now carrying light trips, with the possible exception of the Pittsburgh boats.

The steamers Star of Kansas and John K. Speed unloaded and took on freight to the amount of 3,500 tons at Cincinnati yesterday.

The Pittsburgh harbor was cleared yesterday. Every bag of coal was sent out, and this rise has been the most successful one on record. There were not one or two small accidents. A decided fall is expected soon, but there is still barge water.

For more than a hundred years the Shakers have been studying the remedial properties of plants. They have made many discoveries, but their greatest achievement was made last year. It is a cordial that contains almost digested food and is a digestive of food. It is effective in restoring distress after eating, and creates an appetite for more food so that eating becomes a pleasure. Pale, thin people become plump and healthy under its use. It arrests the wasting of consumption.

There never has been such a step forward in the cure of indigestion as this Shaker Cordial. Your druggist will be glad to give you a little book descriptive of the product.

Give the babies LAXOL, which is Castor Oil made as palatable as honey.

The Indiana House is having trouble with a bill introduced by its colored member, the Hon. Gabe Jones, abolishing separate schools for colored children.

IT'S A REGULAR LALA!

The "Nonpareil" Affords More Real Fun Than a Barrel of Monkeys.

Monday night being the regular meeting of the Nonpareil Debating Society, Dieterich's Hall was packed to the foyer, and long before candle light "standing room only" was a free silver premium.

The topic for discussion, "Which is Most Powerful, the Pen or the Sword?" was only proved and conceded, but the goose quill came out with a whole feathered in its big theater hat.

Three new members were admitted, and the applications of Colonel J. Wesley Lee, George Ort and Clarke Rogers were laid away for one month, while a committee of experts inquire into their literary characters.

Next Monday night the Springdale Debating Club will walk down for a red hot discussion with the Nonpareil champions, and a big crowd is expected.

Mr. M. R. Gilmore has been quite ill for a few days.

Sunday was the forty-first anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Toup.

Mr. J. T. Young, whose wife was a daughter of the late Major A. M. Peed of this county, died Monday at Sharpsburg.

Sidney Smith, aged 94, died at Lexington Monday morning. He had been prominent throughout Central Kentucky as a man of affairs for over half a century.

There is talk of attempting to rush a bill through Congress repealing that section of the law under which President Cleveland discontinued a number of Pension Agencies.

Mr. Henry S. Barnett of Nicholasville and Miss Sarah M. Gallagher of Lexington, a daughter of the late Jefferson Gallagher who resided near Germantown, were married a few days ago.

The Dexter and Lowell Turnpike Company was indicted for permitting its road to remain out of repair; and yesterday the Circuit Court declared its charter forfeited and ordered the road turned over to the county, to be worked as a public highway.

Thirty Years Ago!

Tuesday, March 2d, 1897, will mark the Thirtieth Anniversary of the starting of a Republican Newspaper in Maysville by the Editor of The Ledger. The occasion will be observed by the issue of a double number, and a large extra edition. This will contain some interesting references to citizens of that time; and it will afford good opportunity for present business men to advertise their spring offerings. Speak early for choice of space.

DEFEATED THE RAIDERS.

A Turnpike President Cuts a Tollgate Down to Beat a Mob.

A mob had made arrangements to cut down the tollgate on Euclips Springs Turnpike, a branch of the Salt Lake Turnpike.

Thomas Evans, the President of the Company, getting wind of the scheme, decided to forestall the mob.

Accordingly, he went out at 4 o'clock Monday morning and chopped the tollgate down himself.

He said as the gate had to fall, he proposed to have the credit for himself.

10, 20, 30 CENTS.

The Jolly Pathfinders at the Washington Opera-House All This Week.

Rentfrow's Jolly Pathfinders began a week's engagement at the Opera-house last Monday evening.

The Pathfinders are not strangers in this city, and having been here before are too well and favorably known to need introduction. They come this season with a stronger and better company than ever, presenting an entirely new and original repertoire of musical farces, comedies, together with a superb band and operatic orchestra. The opening bill was the successful farce-comedy, "Below Zero," which abounds in fun of refined nature, catchy music, songs and dances, and overflows with mirth, wit and melody. The petite song and dance artist, Miss Grace Rentfrow, will interpret the soubrette parts in Mr. Rentfrow's repertoire of comedies, and perhaps in the galaxy of young, beautiful and cultured artists now claiming the attention of theater-goers none meet with greater acceptance than this charming lady.

The remainder of the company includes such well-known people as Bert Hodgkins, Edmund Brussels, Henry King, Grace Seith, Mabel Moray, Gertrude Harris, little Louise Bolten, Jean Bolten, the popular Rentfrow—four in number—and others.

The necessary plays at popular prices—10, 20 and 30 cents.

WHAT HE SAID!

What Mr. McKinley Remarked to Three Kentuckians.

HE WILL RECOGNIZE BRADLEY

And Tells Them to Say That Much to the Governor If They Like.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING.

Frankfort Capital.

It might be well for some of the students of current politics to recall the fact that during the last campaign Governor Bradley was speaking daily for a month for Major McKinley; and that, at the latter's urgent request, the Governor visited Canton and was shown the most cordial attention by the Republican Presidential nominee. The Capital will further call attention to the fact that Major McKinley is a gentleman, and that he has known for many years who is the leader of the Republican party in Kentucky.

Of course, if the newspapers have any satisfactory reason for insisting that Governor Bradley and Major McKinley are at dagger points, they can keep up the discussion, but The Capital, which was not taken part in this argument heretofore, will now interrupt the hysterical flow of gossip by mentioning merely what Major McKinley said to three prominent Kentuckians who visited him very recently—Messrs. Logan Murray, James F. Buckner and Charles T. Ballard.

It seems that Major McKinley had not heard that in Kentucky the great unwashed public has an idea that one man is going to control all the patronage, and that Hunter and Todd have made the announcement that while they do not claim that they will have the naming of every official to be appointed, but that they will have the veto power, and that no man will be appointed whom they do not approve. But the President-elect must have gathered something of the situation from the gentlemen mentioned, for this is what he said:

"Why, gentlemen, if Governor Bradley's worst enemy were to be elected United States Senator, IT WOULD NOT INTERFERE IN THE SLIGHTEST DEGREE WITH MY RECOGNITION OF YOUR DISTINGUISHED GOVERNOR IN THE FILLING OF THE OFFICES IN YOUR STATE, and if you think it worth while you say this to Governor Bradley for me."

That in any way a gentleman talks. A gentleman of Major McKinley's character does not send such messages as this: "You can say for me that there will be no appointments made until a Senator is elected—not appointed, mind you, but elected." And as Dr. Hunter will not tell what Major McKinley said to him, it may be well to know what he said to other Kentuckians. And as Major McKinley is not wont to talk one way to one man and another way to another man, it is probable that this is about what he said to Dr. Hunter. Maybe this is why the Doctor left Canton in such a bad humor. The Doctor says "I can assure you" McKinley feels so and so. And The Capital can prove that McKinley said what is here quoted.

The Department of Labor has prepared a report showing the number of women bread winners is increasing proportionally and children decreasing.

Alice Platt, the servant girl charged with poisoning her employer's two children, was acquitted at Kansas City.

It is said the officers of the Frankfort and Lawrenceburg Turnpike Company will, if they are not allowed to collect toll, make the road impassable.

STRANGE STORY.

A Dream Reveals Where a Forgotten Box of Jewels Was Deposited.

A box of pearl jewelry, deposited in 1883 in the vaults of the First National Bank of Covington, and long forgotten, will in all probability be claimed before long, the direct result of a dream.

In 1883 Mr. Samuel Dobyns was proprietor of what is now the Latonia Hotel in Covington.

One of his boarders was a young lady named Miss Kate Cannon, who had come from Meridian, Miss., to attend the College of Music in Cincinnati. She had letters of introduction which made her welcome in good society. One of her lady friends was the daughter of Mr. Dobyns, now the wife of Mr. Sydney Hall, formerly of this city.

Miss Cannon became despondent from some unknown cause, and one day when deeply depressed offered Miss Dobyns a box of pearl jewelry, with the remark that if she died she did not want a certain relative to get the valuables.

Miss Dobyns declined and induced her to deposit them in a bank until her health returned. This was done. They were placed in the vault of the First National Bank, the box marked with her name.

Soon after Miss Cannon returned home, became demented and about five years ago died.

The box of jewelry was forgotten for years, and when there was a change made in the Bank's officials so one knew who Miss Cannon was.

Mr. I. D. Fry, now residing in Clifton, was succeeded by Mr. Jones as Cashier of the Bank about five years ago.

A few weeks ago, so Mr. Dobyns stated, Mr. Fry had a dream, and the occurrence of the depositing of the jewelry was recalled, together with the heretofore forgotten fact that Mrs. Sydney Hall was with the young lady when the deposit was made.

The next day he wrote to Mrs. Hall, who informed her father, and he called at the Bank, and was told that the box was there, unclaimed.

Mrs. Hall then wrote to the parties whose letters of introduction Miss Cannon had presented, asking for information of her or the relatives.

It was learned that the family had left Meridian and gone to Texas.

One sister, Mrs. Irma Hunter, resides at Parker, Tex. A letter stating the facts regarding the box of jewelry has been written to her, but as yet no answer has been received.

Mr. Jones, the present Cashier of the Bank, says that he is ready to turn over the jewelry to the owners if the ownership is proven by legal documents.
